Nunchaku for Sale

There are many different kinds of nunchaku available! Here is a sample from the AWMA website!

<https://www.awma.com/training-weapons-main/training-weapons/nunchaku-nunchucks>

Nunchaku basically come in two styles, traditional, or creative. The traditional style can be connected by string or chain. They can be padded (recommended for kids and beginners!) and are usually made out of wood or plastic. Creative nunchaku are usually thinner and flashy, and the chain or string is shorter to facilitate going faster and doing tricks! Both styles come in different lengths. We have a few new styles at the school for you to try out! Here is one of my favorite styles!

Task Karate and the YMCA Tournament!

Congratulations to all the Task Karate students that participated in the Y tournament! One of our students, Adam Johnson was nominated for the sportsmanship award, and our school won an award for supporting the event with so many students! We also had students come and cheer their classmates on! We had four black belts help with the judging as well! Great job everyone!
